Girls' Night Out

LOS ANGELES—Brides-to-be looking for a custom-designed party night filled with humor, boldness and sex appeal may find all that they're looking for with Arc Entertainment's "Brides Night Out Bachelorette Parties."

Produced by The Sassy Debutante, comedian and "sex therapist" Pamela Yager, each party is pre-planned and hosted by a professional entertainer, allowing the bride and her entourage to relax and enjoy the event in style.

Now available in most major cities, party themes include the Bridal Challenge Game, in which guests are taken by limousine to local hot spots where they perform challenges ranging from serenading a stranger to having a man autograph parts of their body; Bride's Night Out Scavenger Hunt, in which guests are taken by limo to scout out sexy and fun prizes all over town, with the final prize being the groom and his friends; Pleasure Parties, which is a journey through the land of "pleasure products," where guests touch, taste and share stories, tips and suggestions and may be entertained by strippers such as the reigning Mr. Romance 2002 or Chippendales; and Pamper Parties, where guests indulge in girly delights with an in-home lingerie and bath boutique, massage therapist and makeup artist.
